THE PALACE,

MYSORE.

28th January, 1928.

I have received your letter NO.501 dated the 26th instant (confidential). I am afraid I might not have made myself clearly understood when I said in the concluding sentence of my letter of the 23rd instant that His Highness to whom I submitted - Rajkumar's letters felt sorry for what had taken place. What I really meant to convey thereby was that His Highness on reading Rajkumar's letters worded somewhat indiscreetly felt sorry for Rajkumar not having observed the usual official courtesy in applying to you for leave. It is my fault that I did not make the last para clearer and in hastening to express my sincere regret for the same I may assure you that nothing else was meant to be conveyed.
